

Journaling Prompt

This is your space to reflect, release, and dream. Write freely, without feeling the need to edit your words or answer perfectly.

How much overlap is there between what you say is important to you and how you spent your attention over the last month?

A series of horizontal dotted lines providing space for journaling.

